From the Pastor's Desk:

As Vice-President, George Bush represented the U.S. at the funeral (November 15, 1982) of former Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev who had been the president of the USSR for 18 years. Bush was deeply moved by a silent protest carried out by Brezhnev's widow, Mrs. Viktoria Brezhnev. She stood motionless by the coffin until seconds before it was closed. Then, just as the soldiers touched the lid, Brezhnev's wife performed an act of great courage and hope, a gesture that must surely rank as one of the most profound acts of civil disobedience ever committed: she reached down and made the sign of the cross on her husband's chest. There in the citadel of secular, atheistic power, the wife of the man who had run it all hoped that her husband was wrong. She hoped that there was another life, that that life was best represented by Jesus who died on the cross, and that the same Jesus might yet have mercy on her husband. Today's Gospel is Jesus' teaching on the resurrection of the dead.

In one of his lighter moments, Benjamin Franklin (one of the most important Founding Fathers of the United States: author, political theorist, politician, printer, scientist, inventor, civic activist and diplomat), penned his own epitaph. It seems he must have been influenced by Paul's teaching on the resurrection of the body. Here's what he wrote: The Body of B. Franklin, the former printer lies here, food for worms, like the cover of an old book: its contents torn out, and stripped of its lettering and gilding. But the work shall not be wholly lost: for it will, as he believed, appear once more in a new & more perfect edition, corrected and amended by its Author.

A Sunday school teacher asked his class, "If I sold my house and my car, had a big garage sale and gave all my money to the Church, would that get me into Heaven?" "NO!" the children all answered. "If I cleaned the Church every day, mowed the yard, and kept everything neat and tidy, would that get me into Heaven?" Again, the answer was, "NO!" Again the teacher asked, "Well, then, if I were kind to animals and gave candy to all the children, and loved my wife, would that get me into Heaven?" Again, they all answered, "NO!" "Well then how can I get into Heaven?" A five-year-old boy shouted out, "YOU GOTTA BE DEAD!" Good insight for a five-year old!

A singing group called "The Resurrection" was scheduled to sing at a Church. When a big snowstorm postponed the performance, the pastor fixed the outside sign to read, "The Resurrection is postponed."

Nota de nuestro pastor:

Como Vice-Presidente, George Bush representó a los Estados Unidos en el funeral (15 de Noviembre de 1982), del ex líder Soviético Leonid Brezhnev quien había sido el Presidente de la URSS durante 18 años. Bush se conmovió profundamente por una silenciosa protesta realizada por la viuda de Brezhnev, la Sra. Viktoria Brezhnev. Ella se quedó inmóvil al lado del ataúd hasta segundos antes de cerrarse. Entonces, tal y como los soldados tocaron la tapa, la esposa de Brezhnev realizó un acto de gran valor y esperanza, un gesto que seguramente queda enlistado como uno de los actos más profundos de desobediencia civil cometido: ella se agachó e hizo la Señal de la Cruz en el pecho de su marido. Allí en la ciudadela del poder laico, ateo, la esposa del hombre que había gobernado todo esperaba que su marido estuviera equivocado. Confiaba en que había otra vida, que la vida era mejor representada por Jesús, quien murió en la Cruz, y que el mismo Jesús todavía podía tener misericordia por su marido. El Evangelio de hoy es la enseñanza de Jesús sobre la resurrección de los muertos.

En uno de sus momentos más sutil, Benjamín Franklin (uno de los fundadores de los Estados Unidos más importantes: autor, teórico político, político, impresor, científico, inventor, activista cívico y diplomático), escribió su propio epitafio. Parece que debe haber sido influenciado por la enseñanza de Pablo sobre la resurrección del cuerpo. Aquí está lo que escribió: El cuerpo de B. Franklin, el impresor anteriormente aquí, comida para gusanos, como la portada de un libro viejo: su contenido arrancado y despojado de su rotulación y motor. Pero el trabajo no será enteramente perdido: por, como él creía, aparece una vez más en una edición nueva y más perfecta, corregida y enmendada por su Autor.

Un maestro de escuela Dominical le preguntó a su clase, "si vendiera mi casa y mi coche, tuviera una gran venta de garaje y diera todo mi dinero a la Iglesia, ¿llegaría al cielo?" "¡NO!" respondieron todos los niños. "Si limpiara la Iglesia todos los días, cortara el césped y mantuviera todo limpio y ordenado, obtendría el cielo?" Una vez más, la respuesta fue, "¡NO!" Otra vez el maestro le preguntó, "bueno, entonces, si fuera amable con los animales y le diera dulces a todos los niños y amara a mi esposa, ¿me llevaría al cielo eso?" Una vez más, todos contestaron, "¡NO!" "Pues entonces ¿cómo podría irme al cielo?" Un niño de cinco años de edad gritó, "Tienes QUE ESTAR MUERTO!" ¡Buena sabiduría de cinco años!

Un grupo de canto llamado "La resurrección" estaba programado para cantar en una Iglesia. Cuando una gran tormenta de nieve pospone la actuación, el Pastor pone un rótulo afuera que dice, "Se pospone la Resurrección."

Bramante, the original architect of the New Saint Peter's Basilica, designed 4 piers to support the enormous weight of the domed roof. At the construction site, an artist from Florence named Michelangelo, observed that construction workers were using too little cement in the concrete mix and using rubble rather than new concrete between the walls. He complained to Bramante, but Bramante refused to listen. Soon after Bramante's death, cracks began to appear in the piers. The new architect Antonio da Sangallo altered and reinforced the piers and walls many times to try to stem the cracking. He spent large sums to raise the floor of the Basilica 12.5 feet which completely changed the interior's appearance from its initial design concept. The ground beneath the Basilica was marshy and it is thought that the reason for raising the floor was to combat sinking. In 1546 Michelangelo gained total control of the construction. He redesigned the outer portion of the piers and reinforced them after even more cracks appeared. In 1574 architect Giacomo della Porta created the final design of the dome with an inner diameter of 138 feet and at a top most height of 394 feet above the ground. Three iron rings were placed within the masonry of the dome to hold back the outward thrust of tension. During this period of time, architects and engineers had little understanding of physics principles required to create a stable structure. They had however learned from experience and structural failures that the thrust exerted by an arch had to either be balanced by another arch or absorbed, and that a dome is essentially a series of arches. However, any structural calculations made in those days were often faulty. By the early 18th century, significant cracks developed around the dome's base and became serious enough for Vatican engineers to add several more tension rings as an emergency fix. Fortunately, this solution has stood the test of time. The main funding for the early stages of building the New St. Peter's Basilica came from the sale of indulgences. But the indulgences did more than help pay for the basilica, however, the abusive way they were sold and lies told about their effectiveness along with other corruption, resulted in an uprising, led by Martin Luther of Germany, and the result was the Reformation and split in the Church. For those who were seduced away from the Church by the allure of the Renaissance and the secular aspects of humanism, Martin Luther offered an alternative ideology and the Protestant Church was born. Those indulgences also paid for some of the most exquisite art in the world. The project brought together some of the world's greatest minds and talent, including Michelangelo, Bramante, Bernini, and Raphael. They worked together along with many others, towards a common goal, creating the most spectacular and inspiring religious site of all time. In 1626 Pope Urban VIII, exactly 1300 years after the consecration of the first St. Peter's Basilica performed the re-consecration, and it has been the center of Christianity from then on.
